“ I've known Charlie and Carol for 40 years. Time flies. He was always a decent and honest man. I think we saw each other four or five times during those short 40 years. To me, he truly was an amazing human being. Raising a wonderful family while providing America with food as a farmer, is hard to beat. When we came to see him a while back, early 90s, he told me he used to fly a crop duster. He mentioned that he once flew it across Washington and Oregon. He left behind a tremendous family. I was honored to know him a short time. There are not many men left in this world like Charlie and he will be sorely missed by all us.

“I shall pass this way but once; any good that I can do or any kindness I can show to any human being; let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.” Etienne de Grellet, Quaker Missionary

Rest in Peace, Kind Sir.

“ So sorry to hear about he loss of Mr. Hahner. My mom was a friend of Carol's growing up and I have been to Fairfield a couple times when I was younger and met them both. I have been through Fairfield a couple times a few years back and stopped to say hello but they were out of town. May he rest in peace. Kristi Magorty Karlgaard

“ The last time I saw my cousin Charlie, I was telling the exaggerated tale of, as a child, taking out "A mile of fenceline" when he and his brother, Jimmy, were trying to teach me how to drive a tractor. Charlie said, "It wasn't a mile!" This is the kind of straight shooter he was. A characteristic I believe he got from his mother, Lily, who also told it like it was.

I admired this quality as well as his kindness and attention to things that needed care. I shall miss him. May he rest in peace.

“ Charlie taught me that favoritism could lead to unintended outcomes. He loved each member of his family equally. He demonstrated this without fail although I must say he loved his cat very, very much!
