“ Pat (otherwise known as Mr. Crowley so as to avoid confusion with his wife or mine) was my neighbor for 42 years. I can easily say that he was the most generous and friendly person I’ve ever known. He generously helped with my home projects and willing loaned every tool he owned! Too, he was a remarkably skilled carpenter and patiently taught me a great deal about the skills of his trade. And all who knew him will agree he was always a source of great humor. My deepest condolences to Patricia, Heide, and all of his family.
